Smokeless Powder. The ndvantages of smokeless powder, besides its virtue of high explosiveness, are two-fold. It does not create a smoke cloud that betrays the location of the gun or gunners, and at the same time the man behind the gun is not coufused for a second by a pall of smoke that obscures the range of vision in the direction of the enemy.

COMMENCEMENT

Opened With Baccalaureate Drive in Hardinsburg District. Sermon Sunday Evening. Class Day Tuesday and Close With Commencement Friday at Methodist Church.

BIG BOMBARDMENT OF FRONT

Troops' of Tricolor Hold on Grivesnes Park, on the Front South of Somme, Is Still Secure.

London, Mny 13,---French troops nd-Locre, on the Flanders front, the war quire. office announces. The statement fol-

"French troops advanced their line, slightly east of Locre and captured several prisoners. We carried out successful raids during the night west of Merville and brought back a few prisoners and muchine yous. A raid attempted by the enemy east of Ypres was stopped by one fire."

Puls, May 13.—Henry artiflery lighting on the front below Amiens, in the reglor of Grivesnes and Malliy-Ruineval, is reported in the official communication. The French guined ground on the southern side of the Pleardy front, near Orvillers-Soret, outheast of Montdidier. The statement says: "During the night very spirited urtillery lighting confinued all along the front in the region of Grivesnes and Mallly-Raineval. North of Grivesnes our troops curried out a raid and took 15 prisoners. In a local operation at Marcull wood, northwest of Orvillers-Sorel, we made an appreciable gain in ground. Thirtynine prisoners and several muchine gnus fell Into our hands. A German counter-uttack was broken up completely by our fire.

"French detuchments made several lucursions luto the German line, espechally southeast of Montdidler, Northeusl of Thinncourt, in the sector of Supignuel and in the Woevre, taklug prisoners and material."

Foe Held in Leash.

Germany's affacking troops are still held in leash while the blg enemy guns lombard heavily the utiled lines on the Flanders and Somme battle-Helds. Southwest of Ypres the Germans have not attempted to repeat the futile uttack of Wednesday against the French and British between Voormezzeele and La Clyette. The German artitlery fire along this line, however, is violent.

On the southern leg of the Lys salient the Germous are bombarding the Roberq sector and also are paying attention of the Brillsh position about Vimy ridge, on the Arras front. On the Somme buttlefield the British have engaged in some local lighting around Aveluy wood, between Albert and Arras, and Berlin claims the repulse of a local British attack here.

French Retain Gains.

The French hold on Grivesnes Park, on the south front of the Somme, Is still secure. The Germans are shelling the new French positions intensely, but have not utlempted counteruttacks in force.

West of Montdidter, American gunners have been bombarding the Germans in the villages of Cantlgny and Mesnit St. Georges, three resulting. Little Miss Helen Gordon, Louisville South of this sector the German guns have been active between Noyon and Davis Lussiany American troops on the sector Northwest of Toul assisted the Preach In a successful mild into the German positions in Aprement for st Friday. The American guns aided the Prench. and east of the raided section American parrols made a diversion by entering the village of Apremont, which was found to be described.

Active artiflery firing is going on In some sectors of the Italian and Macedonian fronts. There also have been patrol engagements on these fronts, but no heavy fighting.

Value of Forage and Pasture for Hog Feeding

> Through the use of suitable forage and pasture crops, pork can be produced at a much lower cost than when pigs are maintained in dry lots on expensive concentrates alone.

> Spring pigs will thrive amazingly on good pasture, such as rye, clover, sorghum, rape, alfalfa and cow peas, supplemented with our Liquid Feed.

Not only do pigs on pasture make cheaper gains, but the exercise they obtain is an important aid in keeping them thrifty and in good health.

Why not feed a pig instead of a dog; one is a producer and a direct assistance in winning the War and can be fattened on the waste from the average family or the refuse from a city garden; the other (dog) is a parasite that serves no useful purpose whatever.

> Buy Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps; subscribe to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and other war activities and raise pigs; these are patriotic duties, and are essential for winning the war.

Men and Women of America!

"O, you must—you must—give more!"

The Red Cross Nurse! Glorious product of the war!

Her spirit is calling to you from bleeding France.

She sees the coming millions of American manhood! She knows they must suffer even as their brothers in arms have suffered.

She knows you are willing to help, but oh she is so afraid that you simply can't realize the appalling need for Red Cross aid, and the necessity for you to sacrifice and give and give and give till it hurts!

American Red Cross nurses by the thousands; French, British, Italian Red Cross nurses by the tens of thousands-all are there-giving their strength, their health, their lives.

The least you can do is to have your money there-nursing and saving broken men, and helping poor, starving, homeless little kiddies.

Your first Red Cross contribution was there in time-NOW how much?

"Oh you must-you MUST-give more," says the spirit of the Red Cross nurse-glorious, unselfish product of the war.

In millions of loyal American homes women are going to make some definite sacrifices, and pledge to Red Cross the equivalent of several days' household expenses during June, July, August and September, and this in addition to the male subscription in the house.

Are you going to be one of those women? Can you be any other kind of a woman in this our country's gravest crisis?

FARM AND STOCK.

Variable and and and and

The splendid rain of last Saturday and Sunday came just at a time when it was badly needed. Sod ground that had been plowed was getting hard and crusty. It is now in a good condition to harrow and put in good order for planting.

The tobacco crop promises to be one of the largest in years. Growers are increasing their acreage a bout two-thirds as compared with last year's planting. In some sections of the county complaints are made of a shortage of plants early in the season. But since the rains and sunshine, this fear has all ceased and the plant scare is a thing of the past. There are plenty of plants now for setting and the farmers will be on the firing line this week sticking plants with a vim.

Tobacco is selling now away above what was anticipated. The market is strong and active with prices soaring. The present crop in this county is nearly all sold and very few crops are in the hands of producers.

Recent sales of Burley on the Louisville market went as high as $50.50; 12 hogsheads of Oldham county averaged$44.50 and dark sold up to $18.25.

Beard Bros., made a purchase at Glen Dean of 350,000 pounds of dark at $16 round, cleaning up all thee rops in the hands of the farmers. They have rented the Moorman & Howard warehouse at Glen Dean where they will redry this purchase. They sold their entire holdings to M. J. Reynolds & Co., Winston Salem, N. C., where this tobacco will all be shipped. This is the first entry of this large firm in this market which means much for our market. Glen Moorman has charge of the handling of this parchase.

Oscar Haynes, of Union Star, made a good sale of his crop of 11,000 lbs of Burley to W. J. Schopp, Stephensport, at $33 round. Rev. H. S. English sold his crop of 8,000 pounds of Burley to Mr. Schopp at $33 and John B. Gibson 5,000 pounds at $30.

A. M. McCoy, Union Star, sold Byron Parks three 10-months-old steers for $147.30.

Proctor Roberts has 14 ewes and 3 lambs. He thinks they will round him up over $500.

Glen Moorman, Glen Dean, has ought several fleeces of wool at 60 cents per pound.

The largest source of profits for European farmers is from sheep raised on land valued from $300 to $350 per acre. Here in Breckinridge county we have land valued at from watch each other's death agonics. to $40 per acre that will produce just as good sheep. Thousands of acres are absolutely idle, doing nothing, not even paying taxes, when they could be brought into a profitable paying business. Wake up farmers and go to it. Take a lesson from across the seas and help win the war.

Sheep are noted scavengers. They rid the fields of pests and fertilize and build up the soil and fit it for corn and other products. Frank Carter tells us that he is not going o sell a ewe from his flock this Spring. That he will keep them for breeding next year. Mr. Carter knows that it pays to raise sheep. He has built up an old run down farm with sheep, cattle and hogs, made a good living, paid for his his farm and his land is now worth double what he gave for it.

for Canada was recently held at Bu- perlence that you ever had, ford, Ontario. Most of the sheep were bought by buyers from the United States. Ninety-seven head of Shropshires were sold for $6,000. The highest priced ram lamb sold $315, the highest price ever paid for a Shropshire ram in Canada at auction. The top price for a pair of Shropshire lambs from one ewe was $212.50. We want to see the time when lambs bring that price in Breckinridge.

Invalided Sergeant Describes Atrocities Committed in France.

Indescribable Brutality Revealed When Highlanders Capture Village Near Ploughestreert Wood.

San Francisco.-Indescribable atrocities, which even the brutni Hun might not be thought capable of, were committed in France recently and discovered when the valiant Senforth Highlanders captured a small village near Ploughestreert Wood, necording to Sergennt A. Goad of the Highlanders, who has been invalided to America with three wounds.

"When we took the viliage I happened to look into a hut, still standlag among the rulns, and there saw the most horrible sight that I have yet seen in my war experience," Sergeant Gond sald.

"Against one wall was the dead body of a woman, her haads crossed above her head and nailed to the wail by a spike. There were no other woulds on her body-she must have been left there to die from torture.

"Opposite her, against the other wall, was a little three-year-old child, with Its head impaicd on a sharp hook and its limp little body hanglag down. The two had doubtless been crucified at the same time and left alone to

FASCINATION OF AIR LIFE

First Trip in Army Airpiane Is Thriller Apart From Everything Else in Life, Says Flier.

An aviation student lu one of the Western schools declares that the sensation of the first trip in one of the government's aircraft is not to be compared with anything else he ever experienced. He explained it thus:

"I wish I had the ability to describe the fuscination of this work of learning to be the cavalry of the air, or eyes of the nruly, or anything else one chooses to call us.

CHAPTER VIII.

On the Mountain Road.

The low grny car which carried the chancellor was on its way through the mountains. It moved deliberately, for two reasons. First, the chancellor was afraid of motors. He had a horseman's hatred and fear of machines. Second, he was not of n mind to rouse Klug Karl from a night's sleep, even to bring the hand of the Princess Hedwig. His the porning, before the hunters left and puttees, and a fur greatcoat over all.

The secret service men exchanged glances. There was more to this than appeared. "So Mettlich is here!" he said. "A hasty journey. They must be enger."

"They must be in trouble," Kaiser observed dryly. And on that uncomplhaentary comment King Karl slept, his fuce drawn into a weary smile.

But he received the chancellor of Livonia cordially the next morning, going himself to the lodge doorstep to meet his visitor, and there shaking hunds with him.

"I am greatly honored, excellency," he said, with his twisted smile.

"And I. sire." Hut the chancellor watched him from under his shaggy brows. The messenger had escaped. By now Karl knew the story, knew of his midnight ride over the mountains, and the haste it indicated.

Karl himself led the way to his study, ignoring the chamberlain, and stood aside to let Mettlich enter. Then he followed and closed the door. "It is a long time since you have honored Karnia with u visit," Karl observed. "Will you sit down?" Kurl himself did not sit. He stood negligently beside the mantel, an arm stretched along it.

"Not since the battle of the Ar, sire," replied the chancellor dryly. He had headed an urmy of invasion then. Karl smiled. "I hope that now your errand is more peuceful."

For answer the chaucellor opened u portfolio he carried, und fumbled among its papers. But, having found the right one, he held it without opeuing it. "Hefore we come to that, sire, you have here, I believe, detained for some strange reasou, u Captain Larisch, aide-de-cump"-he paused for effect—"to his royal highness, the crown prince of Livonin." Kari glunced up quickiy. "Perhaps, If you will describe this—geutle-

"Nonsense," said the chancellor testily, "You have him. We have traced him here. Although by what authority you hold him I fail to understand. I am here to find out what you have

"I do, sire. Madman is the word." "He is a prisoner," Karl said, in a new tone, stern enough now. "He assnulted and robbed one of my men. He stole certain documents. That he has not suffered for it already was because-well, because I believed that the unfortunate distrust between your country and mlue, excellency, wus about to 'end."

A threat that, undoubtedly. Let the nrrangement between Karala and Livonta be made, with Hedwig to seal the barguin, and Nikky was safe enough. But let Livonin demand too much, or not agree at all, and Nikky was lost. Thus did Nikky Larisch play his small part in the game of nations.

"Suppose," said Karl unctuously, that we discuss first another more important matter. I confess to a certain impatience." He bowed slightly.

The chancellor hesitated. Then he ghniced thoughtfully at the paper in Through a long lancheon, the two alone und even the servants dismissed, through a longer afternoon, negotiations went on. Mettlich fought hard on some points, only to meet defeat. Karl stood firm. The great fortresses on the border must hereafter contain only nominal garrisons. For the seaport strip he had almost donbled his price. The railroad must be completed within two years.

"The Princess Hedwig," Karl said "She has been told, of suddenly. course?"

"Not officially. She knows, how

"How does she regard it?" The chancellor hesitated. "Like ost young women, she would prefer making her own choice. But that," ie added hastlly, "Is but a whim. She is a lovable and anniable girl. When the time comes, she will be willing enough." Karl stared out through one of the heavily curtained windows. He was not so sare. And the time had gone by when he would have enjoyed the taming of n girl. Now he wanted pence-was he not paying a price for lt?-nnd children to inherit his wellumnaged kingdom. And perhaps-who knows?—a little love. Before him rose n vision of Hedwig, her frank eyes, her polor that rose and fell, her soft, round

"You have no renson to believe that she has-looked elsewhere?"

"None, sire," said the chancellor stoutly.

By late afternoon all was urrunged, papers sigued and witnessed, and the two signatures affixed, the one small and cramped-n soldier's hand; the other bold and tlowlag-the scrawl of a king. And Hedwig, save for the ceremony, was the bride of Karl of Kar-

It was they that the chancellor rose and stretched his legs. "And now, sire," he said, "since we are friends and no longer enemies, you will, I know, release that mad boy of mine." "When do you start back?" "Within nn hour."

"Before that time," said Karl, "you shall have him, chanceltor."

And with that Mettlich was forced to be content. He trusted Karl no more now than he ever hud. But he made his adleus with no hint of trouble in his face.

Karl stood for a moment in the open air. It was done, then, and well done. mountains and lurked an enemy. A ment, n gulet and prosperous land. He had spent his years of war and women

That was over. When he returned to the study the agent Kalser was nirendy there. But Kari, blg with plaus for the future, would have been alone, and eyed the ngent with disfavor.

"Well?" he demanded.

"We have been able to senrch the chancellor's rooms, sire," the agent said, "for the articles mentioned last night-a card case, gloves, nrd a silk handkerehief, belonging to the prtsoner upstairs. He is Captnin Larisch, nide-de-camp to the crown prince of Llvoniu."

He had expected Karl to be impressed. But Karl only looked at him. "I know that," he said coldiy. "You are always just n little late with your laformation, Kniser."

Something like malice showed in the agent's face. "Then you also know, sire, that it is this Captain Larisch with whom rumor couples the name of the Princess Hedwig." He stepped back n pace or two at sight of Karl's face. You requested such information, sire,"

For answer, Knrl polated to the door. For some time after he had dismissed the agent, Karl puced his library alone. Kulser brought uo unverified information. Therefore the thing was true. Therefore he had had his enemy in his hand, and now was pledged to let him go. For n thue, then, Karl puld the pennity of many issning a series of new bonds in misdeeds. His triumph was ashes iu his mouth.

What if this boy, infatuated with Hedwig, had hidden somewhere on the roud Olga Loschek's letter? What, then, if he recovered it and took it to Hedwig? What if-

But at last he sent for the prisoner upstairs, and waited for him with both jeulousy and feur in his eyes. Five minutes later Nikky Larisch wus ushered into the red study, and having bowed, an insolent young bow ut that, stood and eyed the king. "I have sent for you to release you," sald Karl.

Nikky drew a long breath. "I am grateful, sire." "You have been interceded for by the chancellor of Livonia, General Mettlich, who has just gone."

Sculptor Charged With Criticizing U. S. Board to Help His Own Firm.

SOUGHT TO OUST MEMBERS

Documents Made Public at Washington Bare Alleged Plan to Use Pres-Ident Wilson's Help for Own Ends.

New York, May 13,-Gutzon Borglum, accused of having songht secretly to capitalize his friendship with Presi dent Wilson by undertaking to promote a private airplane company, issued a formal statement denying "any connection now or at any time" with any airplane production concern or my plan to organize a company.

Washington, May 13,-Documents unde available from the official lifes of the government show that Gutzon Borglam, the scalptor, whose charges against the alreraft program have led to the impending inquiry, as having been connected with negotiations for the establishment of a new alreaftproducing corporation, he which he was to be a silent partner.

Negotiations between Borglum, Hugo Gibson, connected with the Hritish war mission by the United States, and Kenyou Mix of the Dodge Manufacturing company of Wisconsin, began last December, the documents show, A statement by Mix, included in the documents, tells how he withdrew after becoming suspicious of Borgium's activitles and reported the affair to Howard Collin, then head of the alreraft production board.

The ilocuments which have been supplied from the official files of the war department und are now in the hands of senators most lutinuitely connected with the aircraft livestigation, declare that Borglumn contlaned his negotiations after President Wilson authorized him to make an inquiry into the aircraft situation.

"Could Do Anything With Wilson."

A summary of the negotiations signed by Heury Harrison Suplee, who acted as consulting engineer for Mix, declares that Borghun was to be represented in the corporation by a Mr. Itarris and that Borglum's "sole asset in the transaction was to be, first, his personal friendship and association | handkerchief, socks, mirror and tobacwith President Wilson, whom, he stated, he could do mything he wanted

Suplee's statement further declares that Borglum gave him to understand that the personnel of the alreraft board was "highly distasteful to him" and that he proposed to change it "by virtue of his friendship with President Wilson" and usked Suplee to suggest men for the places.

Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the alreraft subcommittee, said the committee had determined more than a week ago that Borghan's testlmony would be worthless to them, and, therefore, the exposure would not halt the senate Inquiry.

Reports of Borghun's activity in attempting to form an airplane company already had reached the committee. and Borglum blaself, when asked to produce witnesses to substitute his charges of profiteering and intimations of criminality in the development of alteraft, had fulled to make good.

The Borglum exposure, however, apours to be complete, and it is dis closed that discovery of his personal Interest in airplane matters caused President Wilson to withdraw all support from the Borglum alveraft inquiry and to appoint a commission headed by II, Snowden Marshall of New York to make a thorough investigation of the alreraft collapse.

Puris -Though things Russian are rather in disfavor just now, a short account of the life led by the Romanoffs, the former laperial family, may prove of laterest.

Tobolsk has been called the "City of Death," Its temperature rarely rising alove the freezing point. Most of its houses are bullt of wood, the one where the imperial family lives being one of the few brick buildings in that part of the country. Its ground thour ls occupied by a company of soldlers Installed there as a guard. The two upper floors, consisting of 14 rooms most simply furnished, constitute the npartments of "Colonel Romanoff,"

There is welther running water por ras, neither electricity nor bathroom. The servants are obliged to draw from n nearby well the water needed for household purposes. The rooms are heated by brick ovens which burn wood. The largest room is not more than 16 feet by 10 feet.

The windows of the house look out on an unattractive landscape. There is not even a garden where the exezur might dig and forget his boredom. A narrow bulcony and a courtyard inclosed by high brick walls furnish the only breathing spots for the imperial prisoners.

Live Life of Recluses.

Nicholas Itomanoff and his wife are practically condemned to the lives of recluses. Their sole outing consists in attending mass at the cathedrat of the Annuaciation or at a neighboring monastery or going to the public haths, where as a special favor the revolutionary authorities permit them to bathe once a week. Whenever they go ont they are escorted by a platoon of soldlers commanded by four officers of he guard.

The fare imposed upon the prisoners s of the most frugal nature. Once accustomed to the delicate refinements of French, cooking, they are forced to content with ordinary Russian the troops, says Major Perkins, who dishes: pling a sort of roll covered with caviar; bortsch, a thick soun maile of beets and other vegetubles; kalacha, a cherse puste,

The people of Tobolsk show neither hostility nor sympathy toward the exiled family. Life in the small town is consistently monotonous. The existence of the former emperor drugs along in drab sailness. Now and then he is nuthorized to receive the visit of two faithful high functionaries whom the revolutionary government permitted to accompany him in his exile-Count Frederiks and General Voyekov. To them he confides his regrets, his memorles and his hopes,

Nicholas Romanoff sald recently to leneral Voyekov in an accent of proound resignation:

"Has my life not always been that of a prisoner? I do not regret my lost power. All I ask is to be allowed to sprrounded by flowers. I feel more by the former Cznrinn Alexamira, Everything in her new mode of life wounds, shocks and Irritates her,

Nowadays Alexandra devotes herself to her children, whom she tenches not to resign themselves but to remember, What makes her most indignant is that she is allowed neither to write nor recelve letters that are not opened by the revolutionary officers. She constantly repents to her daughters:

"Never forget what we are forced to bear at the present moment,'

Her only confidente is Countess Narischkine, who was her fady in walling and who was allowed to follow her to Alexis Closely Guarded.

If the grand duchesses are allowed to come und go freety in the town without the verntley of any surveillaace, the smae thing is not true of the ex-ezarevitch. Prince Alexis, who is fumiliarly known as Alloscha, can go out and play in the public parks whenever he likes, but he is watched by guards speelally attuched to his person.

The daughters of the former czar lead a simple life. Grand Duchess Olga, the most serious of them all, has enrolled herself among the voluntary nurses of a military hospital to which are sent convalescents from Sherin and where she conscientiously passes several hours a day.

Grand Duchess Marle has taken up stenography and typewriting to help her father write his memoirs. But he illetates nothing and writes nothing. Somethnes he leans out of the only window, which overlooks the town, and watches his children when they go for a walk. He wears the unifress uniform of a colonel of the Prevbajenskys and puts on a diguified air as soon as he thinks he is being observed. But when he thinks himself alone his back loses its stiffness, he hides his care-listed face in his hands and this man, whose hair has turned quite white, falls into melancholy brooding, at conversation.

Did America's Pre-Columbian Civilization Come From Egypt? Is Now Question.

Prof. Elllot Smith developed in an extraordinarily interesting manaer the thesis that the pre-Columbian elvillantions of America-or at least many linportant features in those civilizations -were not truly aboriginal, but came hi ii cultural wave from Ashi across the Pacific ocean, the original starting point of the most remarkable characteristic being Egypt.

Professor Smith believes, says Science Progress, that the extremely pe cullar culture of Egypt was spread enstward by mariners, maluly Phoeniclans, for several centuries after B. C. 800. To quote the author's own words, he thinks that "the essential elements of the ancient civilizations of India (the pre-Aryan civilizations), further Indle, the Malay archipelago, Oceanic and America were brought in success sion to each of these places by mark ners, whose oriental judgrations legan as trading intercourse between the eastern Mediterranean and India some time after 800 B. C. and that the highly complex and artificial culture which they spread abread was derived largely from Egypt (not earlier than the twenty-first dynasty), but also facluded many haportant accretions from other sources, and that after traversing Asia and Oceania and becoming modified on the way, the stream finally "continued for many centuries to play upon the Pacific littoral of America, where it was responsible for planting the germs of the remarkable pre-Columbian civilization,"

WAYS OF KEEPING YOUTHFUL

Man Who Is Determined Not to Grow Old Really Has Only to "Make an Effort."

I see it in my changing hair, I ree it to my growing beir, My growing thirst for early news. It is a fact, I am growing old.

And so growing old is just a case of finding what one's booking for, observes the Minneapolis Journal. A man dechles that the time has come for him to be old, and so instead of bracing up, Ignoring the symptoms and finding some other explanation for the change In the color of his halr, he neglects his dress, walks with a stoop, uses a caue, stops taking exercise, cuts too much, ludniges in reminiscences, retires from business, and in general acquires the feelish habit of growing old.

He should remember that it is possible to keep a youthful spirit, an active mind, an interest in current events and a purpose to serve lds fellows, and that he who does these things will always be young.

The fact that women generally deline to contract the old-age habit and hat some men have also resisted the teraptation to full into it would seem to indicate that if those who do yield to It would only take the udvice of Dombey to his wife, and "nake an effort," they would learn how foolish and how unnecessary It is to grow old.

Henry Clay's Diplomacy.

The following is an Instance of Henry Chry's readiness in getting out of a dillicult situation. On one oceasion a vote he had given in congress offended one of his constituents who unbraided him for tt and declared he would never again support him for congress.

Meeting this constiluent on the court green Mr. Clay sald to him: "I am sorry you will not again support me cettre to Crimen, where I could live for congress because of a vote I gave on a certain measure. Whea your than ever that I would be peaceful and rifle laisses fire do you throw the hanny as a simple citizen of a reput-"I do not throw it away." you do with it?" asked Mr. Clay. "Why, I pick my llint and try it again," replied the constituent. "Well," sald Mr. Clay, "are you going to throw me away because I have missed thre once? Won't you let me pick my flint and try ugalu? Won't you treat me as you do your ritle when it misses fire?"

This ready reply satisfied the constituent nad completely won him over, and he was ever after one of Clay's most fatthful supporters to his cuudidacy for congress.

Man Has Copied Nature's Work.

Marble, in nature, owes its crystaline structure to volcanie heat. But Ingenious man uses heat to counterfelt the volcanic rocks. Hy such menns, with suitable materials, he makes bricks and crockery, which are artiticial stones. The processes employed in the manufacture of chinaware are merely workship hultations of those used in the inborntory of nature,

Volcanic rock-graulte, trap or what not-is the very symbol of imperishability; but the artificial stones (such as brick and chinaware) produced by the fusion of particles under the action of heat are among the most enduring of known substances,

For Those Fond of Parrots.

The voyage by steumship is very hard on parrots, which are stored in the kold, commonly by close proximity to the engine room. Consequently they are apt to reach their flual destination in a sickly condition. Oue should be careful to make sure in buying an African parrot that it is a healthy bird.

There are hundreds of species of parrots and the most beautiful of them ull are the cockntoos, native exclusively of Anstrainslu. The glauts of the tribe are the Americau mucaws. Neither the mucaw uor the cockatooo is ordinarily much of a talker, but occasionally specimens are very clever
